

The Long Island Children's Museum is looking for Teen Volunteers!

LICM's Green Teen program is looking for volunteers interested in science, nature, and environmental sustainability for Summer 2017! Help develop hands-on learning experiences for our visitors and be a part of bringing science to life!

As a Green Teen, you will facilitate activities such as cooking s'mores in solar ovens, exploring the science behind glow-in-the-dark plants, and creating woven artwork using natural materials. The time you dedicate to our Green Teen program is an excellent way to fulfill your school service and National Honor Society requirements.

The ideal volunteer will have great people – especially “little people” - communication and skills. She/he must be able to work both independently and as a team member.

Long Island Children's Museum, located in Garden City, New York, is a not-for-profit learning laboratory that inspires children and adults through interdisciplinary, hands-on, fun experiences.

Days of operation: The Children's Museum is open Tuesday through Sundays 10:00 am to 5:00 pm. During the summer we are open 7 days a week from 10:00 to 5:00. You must be 14 years old and have your working papers from your school.

The Green Teen program is made possible with the support of National Grid.

Interested volunteers should contact:

Claire M. Flynn
Youth STEM Coordinator
(516) 224-5867
cflynn@licm.org